No Life Without Light

Images: Orange: blue Public Relations

There is no life without light and we are not trying to be too original. That is the motto behind the new Transfusion Light by Louis Saul for Dodolivin. The funky and funny furniture is kind of Saul's trademark. Many of his designs are evolved from everyday products that are mostly used in a quite unusual and surprising way.*

The powerful combination of ,blood' and light in this lamp is a lifesaving action for comfortless rooms. Small red glass balls run together inside the transfusion bag. The lamp behind the marbles takes up the red interplay of colors. So the room will shine in a warm light. Furthermore Transfusion Light is with its energy saving bulb an environmental savior. The Transfusion Light is also available in blue.
