A chair fit for the Dark Knight himself

Posted in Furniture by Conner Flynn on March 24th, 2008

In our ongoing attempt to decorate Wayne Manor entirely, I present to you the latest in Bat chairs. The Half Moon chair by designer Louis Saul was recently unveiled at the imm Cologne 2008. It's designed as a wing chair with built-in skeleton-like bright orange seat cushioning. It's a must for those nights when you've just thrown the Joker in Arkham asylum once again and you just need some rest.

Just sit back and relax...Until You get that call...Or until you see this signal in the sky...Then you can forget relaxing while watching a movie in this... Such is the life of a brooding and rich super hero.
